

Address: 210 Cambria Street, Stratford

Legal Description: Part Lot 7, Plan 84

Designation By-law: 71-92

By-law Designation Date: June 8, 1992

Date of Construction: 1870

Architectural Style: Gothic Revival

Architectural Description: One and half storey Gothic Revival yellow brick; with a gable roof; a large gable on the left and a smaller gable on the right; both have finials in the peak of the roof; the two second storey windows on the left are segmentally arched with a slightly projecting brick course around the window; the windows are two over two panes; there is one identical window under the peak on the right side; the first storey has a three sided bay window on the left; the windows are rectangular two over two panes; the bay window roof is supported by brackets; an enclosed covered porch has a rectangular two over two window on either side of the door.

The home belonged to Lt. Colonel McComb, a commanding officer of the Perth Regiment in 1939-1940.